NMRC has floated Short-Term Policy for Kiosks, Vending Machines, ATMs, and More at all 21 Metro Station

NMRC has introduced a short-term policy to attract a variety of small businesses, including kiosks, vending machines, ATMs, and innovative business formats. NMRC’s new policy is designed to attract startups, first-time business owners, and entrepreneurs by offering small business spaces (up to 10 sq. meters) on a first-come, first-served basis at all 21 metro stations. This quick, flexible setup bypasses the tender process and provides a unique entry point into high-traffic spaces. Policy details is now available on the NMRC website www.nmrcnoida.com. Here’s what this policy offers:

- Supporting Startups and New Entrepreneurs: This initiative welcomes startups, first-time business owners, and entrepreneurs, providing an accessible entry point into high-traffic metro station spaces. Kiosk spaces (up to 10 sq. meters) are available on a first-come, first-served basis, bypassing the usual tender process to allow for quick and easy setup.
- Transparent Allotment Process: Spaces will be allocated on a fair, first-come, first-served basis, ensuring equal opportunity. Interested applicants can view the full policy on the NMRC website.
- Flexible License Duration: Each kiosk or vending space comes with an initial 3-year license, extendable by another 2 years, giving businesses the stability to grow and expand.
- Comprehensive Information for Applicants: Detailed guidelines on eligibility, rental rates, application steps, and required documentation will be available on the NMRC website. Applicants are encouraged to review these details and select their preferred metro station for business setup.
